Framing
(Subtle Influence)

McDonalds has used framing to trick users into picking the medium sized frie son their mobile app because people expect the largest options to be at an end of a list rather than in the middle.